U. S. PROBATION OFFICER ACTION SUMMARY

On May 4, 2018, Your Honor modified Digg's conditions of supervised release to include placement in the residential re-entry center (RRC). Probation was able to offer a bed space at the residential re-entry center on May 15, 2018.

The RRC requires employed residents to pay 25% of their gross income toward subsistence. This is to offset the cost, unless such subsistence is reduced or waived by the referring authority. It is respectfully requested that the offender's subsistence be waived. Diggs has recently secured employment, and waiving subsistence would allow Diggs to save money while in the RRC with the intention of securing his own residence immediately upon his release from the halfway house.

Respectfully submitted,
